

Last day and still lots to see

There was a great turnout for the Harrogate Christmas & Gift team's networking event after the show on Monday evening with compliments from exhibitors and visitors about the delicious canapés and stunning Royal Hall location.

Business was once again brisk in the halls of the Harrogate International Centre on Tuesday, and if feedback from exhibitors is anything to go by, visitors found lots of fabulous products for their shelves in 2017, placing orders in abundance.

Today (Wednesday) is the last day of the show. However, you still have time to come along and see some of the great ranges exhibitors have to offer. Jomanda (Stand Q2) has the cutest soft toys which are suitable from birth with everything from sheep to elephants and teddies.

Those looking for baby gifts should also take a look at Gisela Graham's Stand M14 and M16 as the company has a gorgeous collection of pink and blue products from mobiles and photo frames to wooden plaques and piggy banks.

Personalised items are set to be all the rage for 2017 and Royal County Products on Stand C3A has plenty to choose from including 'Santa Stop Here' light up signs with all of the most popular boy and girls names.

Finally, Luxa Flamelighting on Stand M26, which has a range of beautiful realistic flame lights, has just launched summer lanterns with moving LED lights inside which will make a stunning focal point in any garden.

These are just a handful of what you can expect to see today and when the doors close at 4pm, the Harrogate Christmas & Gift team would like to thank everyone for attending.

Don't forget to make a note of the date for the show next year in your diary – Sunday 14th to Wednesday 17th January 2018. We hope to see you there!
